Re: Compliance with Utah Code §76-10-1231(1)

Dear Kelsey Hagman:

Verizon Wireless complies with Utah Code §76-10-1231(1) regarding an Internet service provider's obligation to filter content harmful to minors upon request by a consumer. Verizon remains committed to providing content filtering resources to help families use technology safely and responsibly.

Verizon makes content filtering tools available to its consumers through Verizon Family f/k/a Verizon Smart Family, a parental controls app for compatible Verizon smartphones, tablets, and smartwatches. Verizon also refers consumers to a third party, Mobicip, for content filtering tools for smartphones, tablets and computers. Both services offer consumers comprehensive parental controls, including the ability to limit screen time, block websites, manage apps and games, supervise content by applying age-appropriate filtering, view browsing history and locate or track family devices.

Verizon notifies its customers of these resources through the Wireless Customer Agreement and through printed brochures available in Verizon retail stores. We also include signage in our Utah retail stores to provide customers with such information. We direct customers to our website <https://www.verizonwireless.com/solutions-and-services/content-filters/> which provides customers with choices for enabling content filtering services for their devices.

We hope this information is helpful. Please let me know if you have any questions.

For future requests pursuant to Utah Code §76-10-1231(2)(a), you may send the request directly to

Sincerely,
